DR. WATSON CARR, PROPRIETOR. STOPPED IN A SHOWT TIME BY RADWAY'S READY RELIEF.

A LUMP OF DEAD DIGNITY

On board of the steamboat Shotwell, on her trip from New Orteans to Cincumant, the cholerahad land on their backs sonto filty out of seventy-five passengers; for a few hours the scene was of the most terrible character.—Among the passengers were two regular doctors and a stanuch trend of Kadway's Ready Rehef. The two doctors took under their care the patients in the lades' saloon and the patients on one side of the forward saloon. The R. E. R. friend took the deck passengers and the caban passengers in the latitoard side of the forward cabant; as fast as the Ready Rehef was applied to the R. E. R. e. patients they recovered, and beture the two doctors pot out of the ladies' saloon, every one out of the twenty-five that were sick, and were treated by the R. R. Rehef, were ontof danger and free from Cholera. Still the doctors refused to use the Ready Rehef, and out of the twelve passengers under their reatment, seven died in the agomes of Cholera. At last both of the doctors were taken sick the field was now left open to the R. R. R. advocate, and with the assistance of some gentlemen who had witnessed the infraculous efficacy, it was applied to all the remaining patients who were quickly releved from heir distressing and dangerous situations.

The two doctors were now the only sick ones on the boat Dr. W., a man of good sense and liberal views called for the R. R. R. advocate. "Sir," said the Doctor "I have made up my mind to try your quack medicine—isou to the power of remedies used by the regular orde of our faculty to cure me; I will, the refore, at the risk or being denounced by the faculty, consent to save my like the passissiance of Radway's Renaly Rehief." Not so did fir. Noodle, he being determined to make himself a marry to the "disputyof the profession," refused to save his life by a "quack medicine." I fedashed saide the Life Restoring Reniedy, and left as a trophyof his firamess and adherance to folly, a lump of dead dignity. BATES HOUSE; INDIANAPOLIS D. D. SLOAN, PROPRIETOR:

Gentermen: A recent trial of your R. Rehef for Rheumanism proves it to be a sovereign remedy. About four weeks ago I was seized with Lumbago, and quite anable to standays. I purchased from Mr. McPherson, a bottle of the R. R. Rehef, rubbed my back weil and obtained immediate religit. The next morning I felt pain in my hip joint and in a few days it became considerably enlarged. I was afraid to try more of the Rehef, lest it should drive the pain to a more vital part his the body, but as the puin in my joint, knee and ancle became so exercinating, I got another bottle of kadway, and applied it, and washed my whole limbs with it; an I I am happy to say write complete success. The intense and unional cold at this season, I feel has the effect of remewing the pain, but one application of the Ready Rehief will banish it. Could I keep my feet warm at all times, I would have nothing to fear from the Rheumanism after applying your Ready Relief. I shall occasionally draw attention to the efficacy of your medicines, the result of experiences.

Yours truly, JOHN McWINNIE.

Hodge, and R. W. Woolley. We noticed as part of the procession a large hickory wagon, with a large deputation of strong-fisted Democrats, and thirty-one horsemen, each having a flag, together with numerous banners, &c., all headed by a magnificent brass band, forming altogether a very imposing scene.

As the crowd recognized the well-known form of their well-nigh worshipped tavorite, words cannot express the enthusiasm which pervaded the vast assembly. Even Know-Nothing, forgetful for the time of their party prejudices, shouted with a vim for Breckinridge. When Major B. could be rescued from the crowd, who seemed determined to shake him to pieces, and had been placed on the platform for greater personal security, loud calls were made for him, which noth-ing could quiet until he advanced in person. In or an account of his speech in detail from ber, and let me exhort no Democrat to fail to hear him if he speaks within twenty miles of him. At the close of his speech dinner was an and the sight of the immense crowd dining in regular old-fashioned barbecne style, would have been amazing to you city diners. Soup—in bar-beens phraze Burgoo—eaten from tin cups, and exhaustless quantities of excellent mutton ham and bread, composed a dinner which was well adapted to satiate a whetted appetite. The adies, of whom there was a very large number, had a separate table appropriated for them, while for the crowd of rougher humanity there were three tables, each nearly a hundred yards in length, literally groaning under the weight of Suffice it to say that he held his audience spell-bound, I might say for an entire hour, and produced a most happy effect. He was followed by that noble champion of the cause of Buchan-an and Breckinridge, George B. Hodge, formerly a prominent Whig. Mr. Hodge made a brief, though very fine speech. Had I not already transcended the limits prescribed for myself, 1 should give you a brief analysis of it; but I

The Finale of a Domestic Drama. The notoriety of the sad affair alluded to in the parties involved in the dreadful business, of the actual facts of the case a deed of charity the families whose happiness has been so wan tonly destroyed by a heartless and unprincipled bertine. We announced a fortnight since the fact that the guilty parties had been traced to their retreat in Rouen; but the following extract gives some additional particulars of the affair:

PARIS, Sept. 1. 1856. * * * * After three weeks of faithful search, with the aid of the two sharpest detectives of London, and the employ of men, women. and children without number, commissionaries, servants rag pickers, coachman &c., &c., and a vast amount of money, Maxwell has at last traced Kearney to his sister's residence. Kearney is as one as any detective; he knows Paris perfectly; he knew they were watching him, and he had plenty of money. So he managed to conceal the girl's residence for three weeks or more. Young Maxwell, who loves his sister fondly, and was more anxious to secure her than to do harm to her seducer, labored day and night in this obet, never stop for rain or mnd, and frequentpassing whole nights in the streets, watching ly passing whole nights in the streets, watching and running from point to point. At last they found that Kearney was in the habit of going to Rouen, and here they soon traced him to the girl's residence, at a masion dlaccouchement, where he had put her immediately on arriving from New York. They obtained all the details of hersituation without her knowing that she had been found, and finding that she was about to be confined. thought it not prudent to gire to be confined, thought it not prident to give her alarm in that condition. They, therefore. waited (the policemen sleeping opposite and watching every movement) until a few days after her confinement, when the mother, who had come on from New York and was waiting at London, and the brother, made their appearance.—
You can imagine what the meeting was to all parties. Maxwell will neither attack Kearney parties. Maxwell will neither actual nor challenge him. Kearney's friends say he wants a duel, so as to settle the difficulty once for all. Thalaws here are too severe. Kearney will be apt to remain abroad. The Maxwell's will be apt to remain abroad. The Maxwell's are preparing to start back with the sister.

But the whole story of their accidential meeting at the Ball of the Thilleries, two years ago, where the girl got sick and Kearney took her home in his carriage, the way he afterwards protected the family. (by the father's convent) in cation thoughout the Union, is any evidence of the nationality of a party. This is what cannot in truth be said of either of the other parties.

As to the third test of nationality and conservatism above stated, let any unprejudiced man look into the Democratic newspapers, from every look of the house, through the defect of the family (by the father's consent) in land, and although it had been my intention to reside at Ashland during my life-time, yet partly owing to the tumbling, ruinous condition of the house, through one of you, Mr. James O. 1st. The bread is made by machinery (which manutacturers have never before been able to employ,) and can be manufactured with much greater rapidity than by the ordinary process.

The bread is more uniform in its quality. 3d. It is of finer color. 4th. It is more even in its texture—the vesicles being far more evenly diffused through the mass than ever can be by the old method. 5th. No drng, lard or butter is contained in it, nor can any be introduced without injury. 6th. It keeps much longer without growing stale, makes the best toast, and is superior to any for dyspeptics. A visit to the Bakery of Moore will be both interesting and entertaining. At noon a salvo of nine guns gave the signal to ring all the bells in the city, and they continued pealing until nightfall. At 3 P. M. the imperial procession set out from the Petrovsky palace. The Emperor was preceded by guards and Cossacks, also by deputations of the nobility, and by the representatives of the Asiatic nations subject to the Czar. The Emperor himself was on horseback, and attended by the Ministers of War. The Imperial Princes followed, also on horseback. Then came a long line of carriages, containing the Empress, Empress Dowager, Grand Duchesses, Princess of Oldenburg, and attendant ladies. Squadrons of Cuirassiers closed the procession.

At 4 P. M., a salute of 74 guns announced that the Emperor had entered the city. The Govfamily, dismounted and knelt before the image of our Lady of Iberia. Thence they proceeded to the Cathedral of the Assumption, and kissed the Annunciation, where they performed similar religous ceremonies. If a case of dyspepsia should be neglected, most serious flects may ensue, for it lays the foundation for, is the inippent cause of, and very frequently terminates in conimption. I would impress apon the mind that to trifle with this disease, may be to sport with that reason which constitutes man super-eminent among animal beings, of to embitter existence by adding a consciousness of folly to the negative of the pain. to embitter existence by adding a consciousness of folly to the penalty of pain.

This medicine is prepared entirely from vegetable substances; the most deheate stomach can bear it conveniently, and its given with perfect rafety, in minute does to the most tender intants, its properties being of a strengthening and invigorating nature. It is neatly put up in bottles, with ample directions for use.

Testimony of Mr. Michael Duan, Superintendent of the Philadelphia Exchange, corroborative of the efficacy of Williams's Anti-Dyspeptic Elizir.

Philadelphia, March 16, 1963.

Doctor James Williams:—For several years past, I have been liable to attacks of Dyspepsia; but never have I been more distressingly afficied with his symptoms, than within the last few weeks. Indigention, nervous irritability, despondency, a sense of weight in the stomach, and severe pains in the leit side, reudering me, for the time being, truly wretched. Fortisately, I was recommended by a friend to try your Elair. I did so, and in tess than two weeks, indigestion ceased; pain and nerrous depression letter, and appetite, with needs and bodily health, were tully restored. To me the cure seemed almost mirraculous, and my object in writing to you see a hope that other persons suffering the miseness of Dyspepsia will avail themselves of your efficient renedy.

URBAN'S SAFES. C. URBAN, Eq.: Dear Sir—We takes pleasure in expressing our entire satisfaction in the utility of your Salamander Safes, of which we had two in use atout Liquor and Recutrying extabbshment, on Sycamore street at the inte severe conflagration. Surrounded by the alost combustible material, and remaining librariary two days in the burning runs, our stprise was beyond description in finding, after opening said Safes everything in good order. In tendering to you bur sincere granification, we do not lessitate to recommend your safes to those in want of Such anarcticle, as we know from experience that they truly are what they represent to be, "fire proof."

We remain very truly yours, WILSHIRE, SRISTOL & CO. Cincinnati, Oct., 1863.
